

Club 51 Brings Cheer to Schoolchildren

Club 51 members and others visit Jo Kelly School.

About 30 Fort Worth-area employees and retirees continued a longtime tradition Dec. 21 by brightening the day for local special needs students.

Organized by Club 51, participants visited Jo Kelly School, which educates students ages 3 to 21 with severe disabilities; and the Transition Center, which helps youth gain the skills they need to operate in the community with minimal support.

The visitors performed Christmas carols and gave students small gifts such as fruit, games and stuffed animals.

Santa, Mrs. Claus and their helpers again made an appearance, and were joined by Superintendent Daniel Torres - as well as the Grinch, who proved he could be nice and have fun.

"When Santa came out, the older kids clapped and yelled," Club 51 President Diana McDowell said. "But when the Grinch came out, they booed. Then the kids laughed and clapped when Santa and the Grinch started dancing together."

Club members look forward to the visits every year, she added. "It makes us feel so good that we are able to put smiles on the faces of these precious children," McDowell said.

Along with the annual school visits, Club 51 members volunteer with organizations such as the Ronald McDonald House, Alliance for Children and Boy Scouts of America.

From the Chairman

Greetings, everyone -

In January, the UPEC Executive Committee visited Seattle to pin down a site for the 2019 convention. We narrowed it down to three or four hotels in Bellevue, Washington, a wonderful suburb only 20 minutes by car from downtown Seattle. We think it'll be wonderful — stay tuned for more information.

But first, of course, comes this year's convention, scheduled for Aug. 7-10. We hope you can join us in beautiful Salt Lake City as we set the course for the future of UPEC. Our banquet keynote speaker will be Shane Keller, vice president-Transportation. Shane served as superintendent of the San Antonio Service Unit about 12 years ago, and he was a tremendous help to our club and the service unit. We look forward to his presence and insight.

Plans with Amtrak for a train to Salt Lake City have been made. You should have received your packets by now; please contact us if you have not gotten yours. We hope to see you there!

Bob Moore, UPEC chairman

Join UPEC!

This edition features the culmination of Union Pacific Employee Clubs' chief purpose: to positively impact their communities while building camaraderie among coworkers, both past and present.

Through activities such as feeding the homeless, sorting toys for the Salvation Army, and collecting backpacks and shoes for low-income families, clubs give to Union Pacific communities. They also coordinate social outings such as attending concerts and dinners.

During the past decade, clubs' membership has declined at some locations, particularly among working railroaders. In the coming year, UPEC leaders aim to reignite membership and continue the tradition that began in 1924 in Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Membership is open to retired and current employees, and their spouses. Annual membership costs vary from $2 to $5 and help fund club activities.

To learn more about your local employee club — or for more information on reactivating a club — visit www.up.com/employee/upec.

Plenty of Generosity Along the Platte

Club 8's 2017 charity efforts culminated in two events Dec. 21-22.

Held at the local Fraternal Order of Eagles, the annual charity dinner raised funds for two causes: $100 went toward the club's annual participation in Angel Tree, which purchases gifts for heildeen who otherwise may not get them, and for the first time children who otherwise may not get them; and, for the first time, a donation of $250 was made to the Salvation Army's Red Kettle drive.

The following day, club members volunteered with Donna's Christmas Dinner, a longtime gathering offering a free meal to North Platte's less fortunate. Along with a donation, members helped set up, cook, serve and clean up the dinner, which was attended by nearly 400 people.

Club 8 also purchased and placed wreaths at nearby Fort McPherson National Cemetery as part of Wreaths Across America.

According to President Mick Jesse, Club 8 members collectively volunteered more than 15,000 hours in 2017.

"The holidays are always a busy time for Club 8," he said. "The number of hours that members donate, not only during the holidays but throughout the year, are to me truly unbelievable."

94th Convention Approaches

Union Pacific Employee Club members will meet this year not far from where the Central Pacific met the Union Pacific May 10, 1869.

The Sheraton Salt Lake City will serve as host of the 94th annual convention Aug. 7-10.

Set against the Wasatch Range, Salt Lake

City offers many activities, including Temple Square, the Gateway — home to UP's historic depot — and the International Peace Gardens.

And don't forget to bring your finest hat and spurs — this year's theme night is the "Wild West!"

San Antonio Assists Salvation Army

Continuing a twice-a-month tradition, members of Club 66 gathered with a variety of other community volunteers Dec. 1 to unload, organize and distribute food from both the Salvation Army and San Antonio Food Bank.

"Recently, we handed out 180 turkeys," Employee Club 66 member Charlotte Featherling said. "On top of the usual groceries we hand out, they also got a turkey, canned vegetables, potatoes and gravy."

Every two weeks, the food items are donated, then divvied up depending on how many people are in line that day. Featherling said they serve between 80 and 150 people throughout each event.

Salvation Army Director of Social Services Robert Galan appreciates Club 66's continuous participation and eagerness to get involved.

"I like that, as a club, we are often helping others and being active in outreach," Locomotive Engineer Lonzo Nelson said. "I might not always have the time, but I have the heart. We make time for giving back."

Club 66 also continued its participation in the Salvation Army's Angel Tree program. Members helped assemble boxes full of gifts to be given to area families in need, helping the organization achieve its goal of ensuring 8,000 children who qualified for this year's program received a gift on Christmas morning.

"We worked for two weeks getting the toys together for the kids," Featherling said.

Members also helped organize gifts for 400 area seniors, including kitchen appliances such as blenders, slow cookers and toaster ovens.

Former Network Ambassador Appreciates Assistance

Houston Locomotive Foreman Avery Canady was struck by a vehicle Aug. 30, 2016, outside of work on Highway 288 as he was leading a funeral procession.

The accident left Canady, a Fort Bend, Texas, County Precinct 2 deputy constable, with some injuries.

Several months of recovery and physical therapy kept him off the job, but he eagerly returned to the shop Jan. 18.

"I thank my co-workers for their calls, well-wishes and support while I was out," he said.

Canady also expressed gratitude to the UPEC Friend to Friend Network, which provided him with financial support during this time.

"I was a Friend to Friend ambassador for a long time," he said. "You're helping others through fundraisers and next thing you know, it's helping you. It's a great support system."

Houston Locomotive Foreman Avery Canady is grateful for the support of the UPEC Friend to Friend Network during his long recovery from an automobile accident.

North Little Rock Remains Busy

Club 54 members stayed active during the holidays with gatherings and charitable efforts benefiting the North Little Rock, Arkansas, community.

The Christmas Care-A-Van kicked off the string of events. Members placed a collection box in the Jenks hallway to collect blankets, coats, clothing, food items, gloves, scarves, shoes, small toys and other items for the less fortunate.

The Children's Christmas Party followed Dec. 2. The team collected canned foods, and Santa made an appearance.

The holiday fun continued Dec. 7 with an adult Christmas dinner at Red Lobster and Santa bingo.

Future events include:

April 28:

Adopt-A-Child Golf Tournament at Burns Park Golf Course in North Little Rock. Funds raised support the educational and physical needs of underprivileged and at-risk children who attend their adopted schools.

Those interested in playing or sponsoring a hole are encouraged to contact Dale Fulenwider at 501-606-6421 or 501-373-2481 or Richard Baldwin at rfbaldwi@ up.com. One team of four golfers with green fees and a cart for 18 holes can be funded for $350; holes can be sponsored for $250. Breakfast and lunch will be served by Club 54 members.

Adopt-A-Child also appreciates any gifts or prizes for the drawing at the awards ceremony. Please remember to place a business card with the gift.

May 4-6:

Toad Suck Daze in nearby Conway, Arkansas, is an annual community music, arts and food festival that harkens back to the days when steamboats traveled the Arkansas River. When the water was not deep enough, their crews sought refreshment at the local tavern, much to the dismay of the townsfolk, who coined the phrase, "They suck on the bottle 'til they swell up like toads."

Club 54 Vice President Robin Burk seeks volunteers for four-hour shifts. For more information, call 501-470-6147.

Club members assembled 200 gift bags in preparation for the event.

"We have a huge turnout every year," Zahniser said. "I think that speaks volumes about how much the community enjoys Santa coming to our town."

Marysville Members Motivated to Educate Youth

Locomotive Engineer and Club 28 member David Bruna gives an Operation Lifesaver presentation to a group of Marysville, Kan., driver's education students.

These days, many teenagers know their way around a smartphone before they know how to drive an automobile. Reminding those preparing to get behind the wheel about the dangers of distractions is an important lesson in any driver's education course.

Two members of Marysville, Kansas, Club 28, reinforce that message as Operation Lifesaver presenters: Locomotive Engineer David Bruna and Norbert Angell, who retired after serving as a locomotive engineer and in various supervisory roles.

"We, as a club, are fortunate to have railroaders who show so much interest in their presentations," Club 28 President Marilee Adams said. Last summer, Bruna spoke to dozens of high school-aged driver's ed students about the potential dangers of unsafe behaviors at grade crossings and railroad rights of way — cellphone in hand or otherwise. The Operation Lifesaver motto, "Stop, Look and Listen," still very much applies in 2018. Bruna showed videos that highlighted the consequences of those unsafe behaviors and answered students' questions.

"I was pleased at how well the presentation was given," said Adams, who attended the class at Bruna's request. "The students were very attentive."

No. 2537 Illuminated Again

Just in time for its 100th birthday, a steam locomotive previously maintained by Club 24 of Walla Walla, Washington, shined brightly this past holiday season.

An MK-7 class 2-8-2, the No. 2537 was built by Alco in 1917 for the Oregon Short Line Railroad, a UP subsidiary. The engine pulled freight throughout the northwestern United States until its retirement in 1959, at which point it was donated to the city of Walla Walla. It found a home in Jefferson Park, along with a coal tender and UP caboose No. 24550. For many years, Club 24 Walla Walla, Washingtor members handled its upkeep, but as membership declined, they asked Walla Walla County to take over responsibilities, said Secretary/Treasurer Lavonne Bren.

Last year, longtime resident Dwight Steffanson took initiative to not only decorate the 2537 for the holidays - quite a commitment, given its size and many parts - but resume upkeep efforts, such as weed removal and perhaps a new coat of paint.

"It was beautiful when we put the lights on it, and it looks beautiful now," Bren said.
