

CHARGEABLE EVENTS AT UNION PACIFIC

Chargeable Events (CES)

In direct response to customer feedback, Union Pacific has developed a demurrage program, called Chargeable Events. This simplified, web-based system uses a set of debits and credits, based on available track capacity at the customer's facility/team track and daily car inventories.

How it Works

With the Chargeable Events system, the charge for demurrage remains unchanged, generally $80.00 for each debit and credit (refer to Tariff UP 6004 for the rate on your equipment/commodity). The system is designed to streamline the demurrage process, in response to input from our customers and changing business trends.

Non-Team Track Customers

The Chargeable Events program is customized with information from each customer regarding track capacity at their location, as well as information regarding a UP Serving Area for each customer, where cars are held prior to placement at the customer's facility. This information is used to accurately record the location of cars for placement and the track availability at a customer's facility to receive equipment.

Using a debit and credit system, CES will assess a debit to a customer for a rail car in the Serving Area, and/or a rail car actually placed at the customer's facility.

Team Track Customers

The Chargeable Events program is customized with information from Union Pacific operating personnel regarding team track capacity, as well as information regarding a UP Serving Area for each team track, where cars are held prior to placement at the team track.

Using a debit and credit system, CES will assess a debit to a customer for a rail car actually placed on the team track. Debits will only be assessed in the Serving Area if the team track is full and the customer has one or more cars actually placed on the team track.

Non-Team Track and Team Track Customers

Credits are automatically issued to allow customers time to load and unload rail cars and to compensate for events outside the customer's control, such as failure by the railroad to spot the customer's requested empty equipment.
